

Nazik M Nurelhuda BDS, PhD, MFPH

Nazik has over 9 years of working experience in public health practice and research and a demonstrated history of working in higher education, government sector and the World Health Organization. Nazik was able to branch out in her career from dental public health to the promotion and protection of general human health and as a result has developed interests in health system development, medical education, migration health and social justice. (Currently in Sudan but at U of T in CA)