

Dr Valerie Wordley (UK)

Valerie Wordley is a dentist qualified from King's College London. She also holds a Masters in Public Health with a focus on global health from the University of Manchester.

She has been working closely with the Global Child Dental Fund on numerous projects, and has also been involved in developing policy with the World Federation of Public Health Associations (WFPHA) Oral Health Working Group. She has a keen interest in health policy and integration of oral health within general health care around the world.